The end of 2023 and the start of 2024 was not the way I had planned or imagined it would go. My colleague, Shan Reed, had a fire in her apartment on the morning of Christmas Eve. She had forgotten to blow out her Advent candles before leaving for church. What could have turned out to be a total disaster, by God's grace, did not! No one was hurt, and there was no damage done to other apartments surrounding hers. The actual fire also was limited to a very small area, which was taken care of with just one dishpan full of water! We saw the hand of God in the midst of what looked like a terrible dark cloud hanging over us. Christmas Day and many days onwards were spent cleaning out the soot, packing things away, making phone calls, signing documents, etc. Shan's neighbors and friends came out to help in unbelievable ways. This is a testimony to the loving ways she has developed relationships with her neighbors over the years she has lived there. The smoke and soot, unfortunately, covered the entire apartment, so she could not stay there. She stayed with me for two weeks until she could move into another apartment. We witnessed miraculous provision countless times. Despite the fact that at the end of the year and into the new year many businesses shut down for the holidays, she was able to find a new rental place right away in the same complex she used to live in many years ago! This update sounds like an update from her rather than me, but what happens to her affects me, as we work closely together, so I can't help but write about her when I share about myself. We are just a tiny team. I am Field Director and she is the Treasurer. I am so thankful that we work so well together and in times of crisis we can be there for each other. Praise God! There is definitely a silver lining to the clouds. One of the miracles that I thought was significant was the fact that out of Shan's nativity set, all burned but the baby Jesus!
